VEGETINE.

An Excellent Medicine.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb., 8, 1877.

This is to certify that I have used VEGETINE, manufactured by H. R. Stevens, Boston, Mass., for rheumatism and General Prostration of the Nervous System, with good success. I recommend VEGETINE as an excellent medicine for such complaints.

Yours very truly,
C. W. VANDEGRIFT.

Mr. Vandegrift, of the firm of Vandegrift & Huffman, is a well-known business man in this place, having one of the largest stores in Springfield, O.

Our Minister's Wife.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 16, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir.—Three years ago I was suffering terribly with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Our minister's wife advised me to take VEGETINE. After taking one bottle, I was entirely relieved. This year, feeling a return of the disease, I again commenced taking it, and am being benefited greatly. It also greatly improved my digestion. Respectfully,

MRS. A. BALLARD,
1011 West Jefferson Street.

Safe and Sure.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

In 1872 your Vegetine was recommended to me, and yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time, I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose, and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegetine my most unqualified indorsement as being a safe, sure and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to new life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

Yours truly,
W. H. CLARKE,
120 Monterey Street, Allegheny, Pa.

VEGETINE.

The following letter from Rev. G. W. Mansfield, formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Hyde Park, and at present settled in Lowell, must convince every one who reads his letter of the wonderful curative qualities of VEGETINE as a thorough cleanser and purifier of the blood.

HYDE PARK, MASS., Feb. 15, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

DEAR SIR,—About ten years ago my health failed through the depleting effects of dyspepsia; nearly a year later I was attacked by typhoid fever in its worst form. It settled in my back, and took the form of a large deep seated abscess, which was fifteen months in gathering. I had two surgical operations by the best skill in the State, but received no permanent cure. I suffered great pain at times, and was constantly weakened by a profuse discharge. I also lost small pieces of bone at different times.

Matters ran on thus about seven years, till May, 1874, when a friend recommended me to go to your office and talk with you of the virtue of VEGETINE. I did so, and by your kindness passed through your manufactory, noting the ingredients, &c., by which your remedy is produced.

By what I saw and heard I gained some confidence in VEGETINE.

I commenced taking it soon after, but felt worse from its effects; still I persevered, and soon felt it was benefiting me in other respects. Yet I did not see the results I desired till I had taken it faithfully for a little more than a year, when the difficulty in the back was cured; and for nine months I have enjoyed the best of health.

I have in that time gained twenty-five pounds of flesh, being heavier than ever before in my life, and I was never more able to perform labor than now.

During the past few weeks I had a scrofulous swelling as large as my fist gather on another part of my body.

I took VEGETINE faithfully, and it removed it level with the surface in a month. I think I should have been cured of my main trouble sooner if I had taken larger doses, after having become accustomed to its effects.

Let your patrons troubled with scrofula or kidney disease understand that it takes time to cure chronic diseases; and, if they will patiently take VEGETINE, it will, in my judgment, cure them.

With great obligations I am

Yours very truly,
G. W. MANSFIELD,
Pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

LOUISIANA TROUBLES.

An Attempt to Bag Heavy Game

A FAIR TRIAL ASKED FOR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

A Washington dispatch says it is stated definitely in democratic circles that John Sherman, secretary of the treasury, and Mr. Stoughton, minister to Russia, will shortly be indicted by the state courts of Louisiana, for complicity with Wells, Anderson and others, in what is called the returning board conspiracy. A prominent Louisiana democrat known to be in the confidence of his party, announces that during the coming month both the officials named will be called upon to answer such indictment.

THE PETITION OF THE RETURNING BOARD FOR A FAIR TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.

Justice Bradley has been engaged today in studying the question submitted by the petition and affidavit setting forth the grounds upon which he is asked to issue a writ of prohibition to the state court in the case of the pending trials of the returning board. The petition is based upon a section of the judiciary act, which provides that criminal prosecution against any person on account of any act done under the laws pertaining to the elective franchise, may be removed for trial to the circuit court upon petition of the defendant, and thereupon the proceedings shall cease in the state court. There is great interest felt in this new feature of the Louisiana case. If it is transferred, the government will be able to insure a fair trial. This the authorities desire to secure. The president himself stated to the messenger who brought him written statements from the returning board that he was willing and anxious to do all in his power to ensure a fair trial, but at present he did not see anything he could legally do.

FROM NEW YORK.

WRECK IN LONG ISLAND SOUND.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

Schooner Ella Haynes, supposed to be from Providence, with salt, went ashore on Plum Island, in the sound, early yesterday morning, and before assistance could reach her, sank with all on board.

Captain Stephenson, of schooner Chester, arrived here last night, and said, "About 7.30 yesterday morning I discovered some distance to leeward a vessel signalling for assistance. The sea ran high, and the gale was such as to preclude any possibility of my giving aid. Soon after calmer weather set in, and I bore in the direction of the vessel.

Finding it impossible to reach her in consequence of the dangerous locality, I was compelled to bear away again. Suddenly a sea swept over the poop deck of the Haynes which threw her on her beams, and in a few moments she went to pieces and sank out of sight."

Captain Stephenson reached this port with great difficulty, and considers his own escape miraculous.

THE METROPOLIS DISASTER.

Further Details.

NORFOLK, Feb. 1—12 M.

The Metropolis had heavy weather from the time she left the Capes of Delaware. On Wednesday night she commenced making water fast and labored heavily. The Captain kept away for the Capes of Virginia intending to make Hampton Roads. The weather being thick and stormy he fell to the leeward and on Thursday morning was compelled to beach the vessel, the leak having put out the fires when the vessel struck.

A PANIC ENSUED,

creating consternation on board of the wildest character. All order and discipline was at an end, and many were drowned by the sea washing them overboard. The vessel is broken up entirely. No piece of the wreck is visible except what lies along the beach. The steamer Cygnet, with survivors, is expected here this afternoon at four o'clock.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Russians Still Advancing

REFUGES TO GALLIPOLI.

TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION AND SUFFERING.

Latest From Constantinople.

LONDON, Feb. 1.

Advices from Constantinople on the evening of the 29th say, "No news yet received from the peace plenipotentiaries. The government has telegraphed to its representatives at the European capitals asking for information. The Russians continue to advance.

It is officially announced that Admiral Hobart Pacha's fleet has arrived from Batoum bringing ten battalions, and Dervish Pacha is expected at Constantinople shortly. This implies the evacuation of Batoum, either in the face of anticipated Russian assault or in fulfilment of stipulations. It is not likely the Russians would make an assault while negotiations are pending.

The telegram does not mention the recent destruction of a Turkish steamer of Batoum by a torpedo from the Russian steamer Constantine.

DISTRESS OF REFUGEES.

Baroness Burdett Coutts has received a telegram from the relief agent who has been with Suleiman Pacha, as follows:

GALLIPOLI, Jan. 30,

Arrived here after marching with army to the sea. Seven thousand refugees are here in great distress. Have seen a vast number of refugees all over the country dying from cold and hunger.

There is a great movement toward the sea. Refugees arrive perfectly destitute, having generally lost half of each family. It is a nation moving without means of transport and without homes to go to. Englishmen cannot imagine the suffering, destitution and ruin of these last three weeks to an innocent and industrious people.

THE DELAY OF ARMISTICE.

The Vienna Politische Correspondenz and Berlin Provincial Correspondenz (latter semi-official) concur in the statement that the principal cause of delay is in the military conditions imposed. The Vienna paper says these include the occupation of Constantinople.

A DAY'S MARCH FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. A despatch from Constantinople says the Russians are now within twenty-four hours' march of that city.

The Porte has concluded to defend Constantinople.

THE MERRY BOSTON BARBERS.

TWO MEN SHOT.

BOSTON, Feb. 2.

For some time a rivalry has existed between Charles Richards and Nicholas Connata, barbers on Fleet street. Tonight, the former fired two shots at the latter through the window of his shop. Connata seized a revolver and fired six shots at Stephen Delo and Santi David, who were shovelling snow across the street, and who he supposed had fired at him. He hit the former in the breast and the latter in the back, inflicting, however, but slight flesh wounds. Both Connata and Richards were arrested.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Anti-Russian Craze.

LONDON, Feb. 1.

The Financier says, "The members of the stock exchange, yesterday, amid groans and yells, burned the Times and News and some other publications of a pro-Russian tendency.

The members then signed an address declaring confidence in the government.

A similar demonstration occurred at Lloyds.

Several outdoor meetings were held in the country yesterday to protest against supplementary credit and were taken possession of by adherents of the government and turned into anti-Russian demonstrations. Gladstone was absent from the Commons last night. He will speak Monday next.

PROBABLE FATE OF TWO MISSING SHIPS.

QUEBEC, Feb. 1.

Fears are entertained that ship Waterloo, which left Quebec the 26th of October, has been collided with and lost at sea. The owner, writing from London to a shipper here, says: "I fear you are correct regarding the wreckage passage by the Busy Bee. Two days after Ranites passed similar wreckage beams painted blue. The Waterloo, Antwerp, bound for Quebec, had no blue paint." It is highly probable that ship Pekin, which left New York Oct. 29th, for Cardiff, and was never heard from, came into collision with the Waterloo in a dark, stormy night, and all perished. The mingling of wreckage implies such collision, as blue on the beams is common amongst Americans. The Waterloo was insured in Canadian offices for $25,000 on hull and $2000 on the cargo.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION.

SENATE.

FRIDAY, Feb. 1.

The Senate was called to order by Lieutenant-Governor Howard.

Sixteen Senators answered to the roll-call,—three less than a quorum.

Adjourned to Monday, Feb. 4th, at eleven o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House met at eleven o'clock, Mr. Speaker Potter in the chair.

Mr. Tobey, of Providence, introduced an act amending Chapter 24.

Also an act amending Chap. 378, "An act to provide for the appointment of a librarian for the law library of the state. It gives a salary of one thousand dollars per annum, and fixes the hours at which the library shall be open—from nine A. M. to ten P. M.

Mr. Sherman of Newport, presented the petition of Thomas G. Williams for repeal of Section 9, Chapter 140 of the General Statutes, (the law which prohibits the intermarriage of blacks and whites). Referred to committee on judiciary.

Also, from the finance committee, a resolution for the purchase of furniture ($300 worth) for justice court in Woonsocket, and for the hiring, (at $200 rent,) heating and lighting of an office for the same. Adopted, after explanation by Mr. Cooke, to the effect that the former clerk, who is now dead, used his own personal furniture and office for the purposes of the justice court, and that the state has no accommodations for this court.

The temperance movement at Springfield goes right on as though Murphy were still there. Meetings are held daily, at which from seventy five to one hundred signatures are usually obtained, and in addition to these the work is spreading in all directions out of town. The movement started at Northampton, Monday, last week, by Mr. Murphy, has already resulted in 2,000 signatures to the pledge.

THE STORM.

Great Damage and Loss of Life.

REPORTS FROM ALL ALONG SHORE.

TRAINS BLOCKADED AND HOUSES BLOWN DOWN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

The storm continued with snow and a heavy northeast gale.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

The snow here is six inches deep; at Poughkeepsie a foot-and-a-half deep, and still falling. All trains are behind time.

IN BOSTON.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.

The snow storm which began here yesterday evening, is the severest since 1867, and has caused an almost entire suspension of business. Travel upon the various lines of street cars is not yet resumed, and trains on the railroads are greatly delayed. About eighteen inches have fallen, and it is still snowing at 9:30 P. M.

A FISHING SCHOONER ASHORE AT MARBLEHEAD.

BOSTON, Feb. 1.

Fishing schooner Eliza went ashore in the storm near Skinner's Head, Marblehead. A hole was stove in her bottom, and she is leaking badly. The vessel lies in an easy position at present. She is owned by John Knowland, of Boston.

THE WRECK ON THE NEW JERSEY COAST.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

Brig Etta M. Tucker, from Rio Janeiro, is ashore at Ashbury Park, and has gone to pieces. No cargo was seen.

STOCK TRAINS STOPPED.

All stock trains are stopped on the roads going east today.

THE DAMAGE AT BABYLON, L. I.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

A dispatch from Babylon, L. I., says the storm there is terrific. The roof of the Watson House was blown off. The large pavilion and bathing houses on Fire Island are all washed to sea. The beach is strewn for miles with pieces of the wrecks. The water washed over the beach from the ocean into the Great South Bay.

THE DAMAGE TO THE HOTEL PROPERTY.

The Manhattan Beach hotel suffered most severely. The beautiful Japanese structure was swept away and the east end of the hotel was damaged. The engine room and bathing houses were swept to sea.

HOTELS UNROOFED AND BATH HOUSES CARRIED AWAY AT LONG BRANCH.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Feb. 1.

The storm here was the most terrific ever experienced. Almost every building on the shore between Sandy Hook and Long Branch is more or less damaged, and all the places on the beach had their grounds badly washed. In many instances eighteen or twenty feet of the bluff has been taken away in front of the cottages and hotels. The bath houses are all gone, and many beautiful houses are either washed away by the sea or blown to pieces by the gale. The bulkheads are all destroyed. The beach for miles is strewn with the debris from these wrecks.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-EIGHT PERSONS SAVED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1, 7:30 P. M.

From reports received at the office of the chief signal officer, from the signal-service station at the wreck of the Metropolis, it appears that 158 names of those saved are already received. It is possible that the number may be increased by others not yet reported. The wreck station reports that at 6 P. M. no one remains at the wreck. The nearest survivors are at Mr. Baum's house, three miles from the scene.

EIGHT LIVES LOST AT CONEY ISLAND.—PROPERTY AT THE BEACH DAMAGED.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

The storm of last night was attended with a shocking disaster at Coney Island. Not only was there great destruction of property all along the beach, but eight lives were sacrificed. The scene of the calamity was at the east side of the island, where the storm struck with the greatest violence, fairly sweeping everything before it. About half a mile eastward from the big hotel were two small shanties, where two men named Wynne and Brennan lived with their families. Shortly after 10 o'clock, the men, who were employed as watchmen by the Hotel Company, left their home for the purpose of reporting the alarming state of affairs to Weed, the head watchman, and during their absence, the shanties in which they left their families, were swept away and the unfortunate occupants, three women and five children perished. When Wynne and Brennan returned there was no trace of the domiciles and the loved ones.

THE REAL "UNCLE TOM" STILL LIVING.

Josiah Henson, the real and veritable "Uncle Tom" of Mrs. Stowe's well known story, is now in this city on a short visit to his early home and his mother's grave. He was born in Charles County, Maryland, June 15th, 1789, and is therefore in his eighty ninth year. That Josiah Henson and "Uncle Tom" are one and the same, is beyond all possible doubt. Many living witnesses testify that such is the case, and page 52 of the "Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin" clearly and conclusively shows it. His name and that of other characters were changed by Mrs. Stowe for effect, and for the allowable purpose of fiction. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was written by her upon hearing him relate the interesting incidents of his chequered life. But as Josiah Henson was not willing to die to accomodate Mrs. Stowe, she had to adopt the name "Uncle Tom" that she might be enabled to remove her hero from life on earth to accompany little Eva in the world above. But even little Eva's name was changed. Her real name was Susan St. Clare. Young George Selby was George Riley. Aunt Chloe was "Uncle Tom's" first wife, but her true name was Charlotte. "Uncle Tom" is a hearty, good natured old soul, who has a kind word and a good wish for all. He has lately arrived from England where he spent about a year, lecturing and preaching in the principal halls and churches of the great metropolis. He was frequently the guest of the nobility and gentry of that country, and had the honor of visiting, by request, at Windsor Castle, March, 5th, 1877, her Majesty the Queen, who presented him with her portrait set in gold. He also had the honor of a lengthy interview with his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, who asked him at what university he graduated for the ministry, when "Uncle Tom" replied, "I graduated at the University of Adversity!" His grace was greatly interested in him, and in the act of shaking hands slyly placed something in "Uncle Tom's" hand, which the latter examined after leaving the palatial mansion and found it to be Bank of England £50 note. At Spurgeon's Tabernacle, London, he addressed an audience of over 7,000 people, on which occasion the Right Hon. the Earl Shaftesbury presided.—[Baltimore American.

THE NAVAL MONUMENT AT WASHINGTON.

Mr. Franklin Simmons, during the four years he has been absent in Italy since his last visit to Washington, has, among his other public works, completed, with his figure of "Peace," the naval monument, which stands at the foot of the national Capitol. This monument, as declared in the inscription, is erected to "the memory of officers, seamen and marines of the United States navy who fell in support of the Union and the liberty of the country." The main group represents grief and history. Grief leans upon history, and finds relief in view of the honorable achievements of the dead. This is the sentiment expressed by the group. Below is a group of triangular form, in which victory holds aloft a crown of laurel. In her left hand she holds a branch of oak, to indicate that strength accompanies victory. On each side of her, completing the group, are emblematic figures representing Mars and Neptune. On the opposite side of the monument is a group representing peace, with emblems of peace and industry. Peace is partially draped, which gives variety to the appearance of the composition. She extends in her right hand the olive branch, while her left arm sustains the drapery which covers the lower part of the figure. A dove has lit upon the sheaf of wheat, which, with the horn of plenty and the broken ground on the right hand, indicates agriculture and plenty; while on the opposite side are the emblems of science, literature and art.—[Washington Star.

Judge Clifford, of the supreme court, who served as a member of the electoral commission, has steadfastly refused, until Tuesday of the present week, to recognize President Hayes in any way. He has even failed to call on him with the other judges of the court in accordance with the established custom. But on Tuesday he caved. An invitation to dinner at the White house was the temptation before which he fell. His intellect was convinced through his stomach. Look out for dinners at the executive mansion in the future and a steady reduction of the "fraud" party.

WONDER WORLD.
BY

ILLUSTRATED BY LUCY G. MORSE.

"Will not go a-begging for children's favors."—[N. Y. Tribune.

"A fine collection of old stories which will be warmly welcomed in this translation."—[N. Y. Eve. Post.

"The field of selection is boundless, and it may well be imagined that the Wonder World stories contain a fresh assortment. They are all characteristic, and some eminently so, of the countries to which each is accredited. * * The volume shows excellent discrimination and being handsomely brought out, must be ranked with the foremost ventures of the present year. It merits a permanent sale long after the gift season has gone by."—[The Nation.

"A remarkable book—It is not, as has generally been supposed, a child's book, unless the Arabian Nights and Æsop's Fables are to be regarded in that light. To relegate such a book to the nursery would be an injustice to lovers of the best in this peculiar field of literature, for while its stories delight children, its chief design—to bring into defined contrast the temperament, humor, sentiment, the salient individual and national characteristics and times described is admirably effected. * * It is a wonderful story (The Hungarian) and would alone lift Wonder World above the ordinary level."—[Boston Globe.

"* * Two women have brought together this little collection of which it may safely be said that not one is insignificant or wanting in amusing qualities, * * It takes the pick of the fabulous lore of the whole world."—[Scribner's Monthly.

"Clear type, fine paper, pretty binding. * * * Wonder World will prove a popular favorite, and a permanent addition to the lore of fairy land. The last story is alone worth the price of the volume."—Christian Register.

"We heartily recommend this book."—[The Churchman.

"The translators are to be congratulated upon their arrangement of a volume as unique and valuable as it is delightful."—Portland Press.

"The wonder is where the translators found all these legends and fine stories."—Hartford Times.

MORE ABOUT BILLS.

THANKS ARE DUE to many of those who received bills from me in the early part of the month, for the prompt manner in which they paid them; some who paid so promptly did not do so from the abundance of their means but rather that being possessed of fine natures and knowing that in buying they had accepted the terms on which the articles bought were sold, they had carefully regulated their expenditures so as to meet their obligations when due. All honor to them and their kind; may their numbers increase! There still remains a long list of unpaid bills, the holders of which can do me a great favor by paying. The money received is not wanted to stow away in barrels or banks, but is wanted to pay debts that were contracted on the supposition that those owing me were to pay at this especial time. Who will help to do it? Let no one feel that what they owe is too small to be of consequence for all help, and all are gladly received.

EVERY NEWPORTER ABROAD
SHOULD HAVE THE NEWPORT JOURNAL
my11

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted,) at the News building, 18 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies, and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal. Terms $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. No gratuitous advertising for any object. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

TO OUR PATRONS.

The publisher of the Newport Mercury has taken occasion, publicly and privately, to misrepresent the circulation of our papers as well as his own. In justice to ourselves and our advertisers, we have publicly denied the truthfulness of his statements and made a proposition to submit the proofs to a disinterested and impartial tribunal, which he declines, though persisting in his false statements. He probably refuses to exhibit his books in comparison with our own for the following reasons:

1.—They will show that he has not one half the circulation which he persistently and publicly claims.
2.—That we have more than three times the circulation that he ascribes to us, both in the city and county of Newport.
3.—That his circulation is less now than formerly and has been subject to a steady decline.
4.—That ours has regularly increased and is now larger than ever before.

Newport Daily News.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1878.

THE DAY.

There was no quorum in our State Senate yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lord are "at home" and ready to receive their friends.

George Cruikshank, the well-known English draughtsman and caricaturist, is dead.

Free-soup distribution will begin in Boston at noon today, under the direction of the police.

The Boston Transcript says the remark has been made that this is an "open winter." It looks now as if it had only just opened.

The Hicks mansion, in 14th street, New York, was opened yesterday, and last evening the first floor was brilliantly illuminated.

At latest accounts a disastrous fire was in progress in Danielsonville, Connecticut. Help had gone from Norwalk and other towns.

The Russians are reported as within one days' march of Constantinople, and the Turks are preparing for a desperate defence of their capital.

The workmen in Fall River are agitating for less hours to be devoted to labor. In most places it is work that is wanted instead of spare time.

The unlicensed liquor dealers are learning a thing or two just now, by the proceedings in Judge Topham's court. Every good citizen will be glad to see the laws enforced.

The storm which has just swept along the coast seems to have been very disastrous both on sea and shore. There was also a heavy fall of snow inland and a general suspension of business of all kinds.

Detectives have obtained a clue to the whereabouts of Miss Lillie C. Kempton. The station agent on the Central Railroad at Hudson, N. Y., has recognized her picture as that of a young lady who left a bundle in his care a short time ago and who has not since called for it. Mr. Alpheus Sandford went on to Hudson from New York, and could not identify anything in the bundle as the property of Miss Kempton. The detective is in search of the lady who left the bundle, and Mr. Sandford has returned to New York to continue his search.

A special to the Boston Advertiser says, Senator Jones of Nevada had a conference with some of the leading spirits of the silver movement in one of the senate committee rooms yesterday. He told his friends he was not satisfied with a minimum coinage of two millions a month; that was entirely inadequate. He wanted the minimum fixed at not less than three millions. He predicted great prosperity and happiness if the measure was adopted in his completeness. As for European countries shipping to us their discarded silver, that was just what he desired. Nothing would please him more. It was a great mistake he said, to suppose the people would be obliged to carry around a great weight of silver. This bill was to be followed immediately by another authorizing the issue of silver certificates in denominations of five, ten, twenty, twenty-five, fifty and one hundred dollars, so that any one who desired could deposit his silver with the government, and receive a certificate for the amount, and these certificates would be the actual currency, while the government took care of the silver itself.

The origin of the late fire in Poultney is said to be incendiary, and the insurance companies will refuse to pay the insurance to the persons in whose buildings the fire originated.

THE LORD-HICKS STORY.

It seems there are several sides to the Lord-Hicks affair. Mr. Lord has appeared at last, and with him Drs. Austin Flint and Fordyce Barker, two of New York's most eminent physicians, both of whom have made careful examination of the old gentleman's physical and mental state. These physicians have filed affidavits wherein they testify to finding Mr. Lord a man of unusual vigor and health for one of his age and in perfect mental condition, possessing a memory unimpaired and showing not the slightest signs of lunacy. The story of Mr. Lord in regard to the treatment from his children is very damaging to them. He has been engaged to Mrs. Hicks for several years; he swears that his children and their lawyers deemed him perfectly competent to make his will on the 30th of Dec., but incompetent to make contracts on the 31st when he was married. The much talked of couple have been all this time in New York and have kept their place of abode secret that they might avoid the trouble threatened by the children of Mr. Lord. It seems that the first Mrs Lord was insane, that one of her daughters is a lunatic, and the general impression is that the Mr. Lord who has so fortunately fallen into the keeping of Mrs. Hicks, is the only sane one in the family.

The following letters will speak for themselves. Copies of them were filed with Mr. Lord's affidavit. No one can longer wonder that Mr. and Mrs. Lord were not desirous of spending their honeymoon in the bosom of Mr. Lord's family. The first letter was received on Mrs. Hick's wedding day, the other was received Jan. 23.

"Mrs. Hicks:

"MADAME: Are you aware of the fact that my father's family have been informed that you have already borrowed large sums of money of him and that you are continuing to borrow since your return from Europe, and my informant says that it is impossible to tell when you will stop borrowing. Father is a very old gentleman and he ought not to be called upon for a $1 by ANY ONE outside his own children. Less than four weeks ago I had a severe hemorrhage from the lungs and the doctor ordered me to buy and ride in a carriage. Father said I must wait until he was paid back a very large sum owing him, and yet since that time I was told he had twice drawn and loaned or given you $2,000 in bank bills. Now if your extravagance (and your influence over him is apparently great) requires all his income, and is to compel him to give you at the rate of $4,000 a week, why I shall publish the fact to the world and then KILL YOU, my children (Mr. Lord's only grandchildren) and myself, and then the rest of his family, and my dear, good, kind, old father will have some peace on earth.

"In haste, yours in consumption,

"C. LORD, 6 East forty-first street.

"Pay back and the whole of your transactions shall be kept a secret from the gossiping world."

"MRS. HICKS:—Your desperate game of hiding a poor, infirm and imbecile old gentleman from his family is played out. It is positively asserted you are detaining him against his will and are keeping him under the INFLUENCE OF A NARCOTIC DRUG. As you know you are the most ASTOUNDING THIEF the world ever produced, you are also capable of doing anything that is DAMNABLE. Thank God, your INFAMOUS CAREER is ended at last. A member of the family who is suffering for your RASCALITY.

C. L.

RELIGIOUS.

The religious outlook in Mexico is reported as very encouraging. The missions of different American churches are prospering, and the people are giving constantly increasing attention to the word of God Mexico needs a great change to bring her people into the experience of a better life.

Rev. J. L. Dudley, minister of the 28th Congregational Church, in Boston, formerly Theodore Parker's, is no longer a member of the Hartford South congregation, his membership having been allowed to lapse through absence. This puts a new phase on a matter which has created not a little discussion among orthodox congregationalists.

The Methodist says, "The venerable Lovick Pierce, D. D., now aged ninety four, was at the recent session of the South Georgia Conference, preached a sermon of remarkable interest there, and was elected delegate to the General Conference, to open in Atlanta on May 1. During the last year he preached forty times, and participated in six district conferences."

The first mission of the Protestant Episcopal Church has just been established in Cuba, after six years of hard labor, by Rev. Edward Kenney. The movement was first suggested in 1871 to Bishop Whipple, who visited Cuba at that time and was much impressed with the entire lack of Christian counsels and teachings for the American and English residents. There are about 9000 Protestants now living in the island.

By the provisions of the will of his mother filed on Wednesday last, Father Denny, the prefect of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Ignatius, attached to the Loyola College of the Society of Jesuits in Baltimore, becomes a millionnaire. Mrs. Elizabeth F. Denny, his mother, was one of the oldest and wealthiest residents of Pettsburg, Pa. Her property was valued before the panic at $10,000,000, but its present market value would not be over $6,000,000. By her will, the property is left entirely to her children. During her life time, Mrs Denny gave at least $1,000,000 to different charitable institutions. Father Denny gets a large share of the property, somewhat to his surprise, as his mother could not become reconciled to his attachment to the Catholic Church. The family were old school Presbyterians. Father Denny in his youth travelled extensively in Europe, completed his education in Rome, is a thorough scholar in all respects, a cultured gentleman, and a true, zealous priest of his church. He is about thirty-three years of age, and distinguished in appearance.

The little boy recently brought from Demararra to Baltimore, under the impression that he might be Charley Ross, is still at the Home of the Friendless in that city, Mr. Ross being in New Orleans and not yet having seen him. The boy is very bright and intelligent, but persists in the statement that his name his Charlie Ross, and that he lived "on the hill" with his mother near Philadelphia. It is well known that the people of Germantown all speak of Mr. Ross's place as "on the hill." On being shown a picture of Charlie Ross, in the book published by Mr. Ross, he put his hand to his head and said: "That was me before my curls were cut off," and also recognized the picture of his nurse in the same book. He resembles the description of Charlie Ross, with the exception that his eyes are of a different color.

William Collins, a liquor-seller and leading politician of Westerly, who occasionally gets on a spree, assulted and choked Mrs. Eunice Brown, one of the quietest women in the village, the other evening while he was drunk, but it was difficult to persuade any of the grand jurors to sign a complaint against him.

WATER WORKS FOR THE GOLDEN CITY.—Mr. George H. Norman, of this city, has been awarded the contract for constructing the water works which shall convey water into the city of San Francisco, from the Blue Lakes, a distance of about 120 miles. These lakes are three in number, the highest of them having an altitude of 8100 feet above the sea, and an area of 230 acres. The second in altitude is about 1½ miles below the first, the area being 75 acres; and the third, or Twin Lake, is slightly above the second and has an area of 20 acres. The capacity of the first, which has a dam of 42 feet high, is 3,000,000,000 of gallons, the second, with a dam 40 feet high, 1,777,000,000 of gallons; third, the dam being 26 feet high, 585,000,000 gallons, or a total storeage capacity of 5,862,000,000 gallons. The lakes are deep, and are supplied by the melting snows, which ordinarily fall to a great depth on the adjacent peaks and higher. The contract price is many millions of dollars.

Mr. Norman's numerous friends will wish him success in this his latest enterprise.

JUSTICE COURT.

After the trial reported yesterday, in this court, a complaint against Margaret Dawson for illegal liquor selling and Andrew Dawson, her husband, for keeping liquor for illegal sale, one against Thomas McLaughlin for illegal selling, and one against Michael Driscoll for illegal selling and one for keeping for sale, in all which cases Col. Honey appeared for the defence, were, upon his motion and by agreement of Mr. Peckham, all tried at once, as the same witnesses were to be used for the prosecution, and such a course would save time. Tompkins went on the stand in these cases at 12 o'clock noon, and was subjected to a minute and rigid cross examination which kept him on the stand until two o'clock. Marshal Read and Capt. Hammond were also called. Col. Honey made a brief argument and the cases were then submitted, when the respondents were found guilty. Margaret Dawson and Andrew Dawson were sentenced each to pay twenty dollars fine and to ten days' imprisonment. Thomas McLaughlin the same, and Michael Driscoll, for selling, was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty dollars and to ten days' imprisonment, and for keeping liquor for sale was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty dollars and to be imprisoned thirty days. All these cases were appealed, the respondents furnishing sureties severally in the sum of one hundred dollars, to prosecute their appeals at the May term of the Court of Common Pleas.

At the conclusion of these trials a complaint against James Mackey, on Long wharf, for keeping and maintaining a liquor nuisance and disorderly house was put on trial, Mr. Baker appearing for the defence.

At the close of the testimony and arguments, the respondent was adjudged to be probably guilty and held in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance for trial at the March term of the Supreme Court. The complaint against Thomas McLaughlin for maintaining a liquor nuisance, together with all the unfinished liquor complaints were continued one week.

Mary King, who has been in jail some time, awaiting trial for larceny from the person, having recovered from the delirium tremens, but not so as to be present in court, had her case continued again one week.

A complaint against Daniel Picket, Jeremiah Kirby and John Curren for an assault upon Frank Fitzgerald on Green Lane, was continued, as only John Curran, one of the respondents, has been arrested. It is thought that the others have fled this precinct, but if not, they will soon be overhauled. Fitzgerald is an old man and was considerably injured by these parties, or some of them, who assaulted him with a brick bat, striking him in the face.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, after a prolonged session of six hours, the court was adgourned, to allow their honors an opportunity to refresh themselves and prepare to wrestle again, at the appointed time with wickedness in high places and, low, and administer the penal rod to evil doers, shewing the magistrate to be as St. Paul says, "not a terror to good works, but to the evil," and also that all those who "do that which is evil shall be afraid," and learn to their sorrow, that he "beareth not the sword in vain," and govern themselves accordingly.

THE NEWPORT ARTILLERY COMPANY.

PRESENTATION TO COL. POWEL.

The Artillery Company met at their armory in full numbers last evening the occasion being the presentation of a testimonial from the company to Col. Powel. Early in the autumn when it was known that the colonel would shortly sever his connection with the company a committee was appointed who soon decided that a very appropriate and acceptable testimonial would be a miniature copy of the six pound field piece which was most used in artillery drill. The execution of the design was entrusted to the Gorham Mfg. Co., who have added to their renown by the artistic perfection and fidelity to copy with which they have done their work. In the minutest detail the original has been followed, and the result is a marvel of minute, delicate and perfect construction. Not the least wonderful part of the execution of this design is the fact that with all the preparation and labor necessary to accomplish such a work, it has, nevertheless, progressed in such secrecy that only those immediately interested were cognizant of what was in progress.

The company being assembled, a carriage soon arrived containing Col. Powel and Rev. Dr. Thayer. After order had been called Col. Sherman said that the meeting was ready to have the report of the committee, and Adjutant Easton on their behalf gave a short account of the conception and execution of testimonial, which was then placed before the company. The presentation address was made by Col. Stedman who said that he had enjoyed the pay and emoluments of the position of ordnance officer for a long time and had never before had any real duty to perform. He thought his comrades intended a shade of irony in assigning him to this place, as the siege of this ordnance might be construed into a reflection of the capacity of the ordnance officer. The gun was a fac simile in miniature of Col. Powel's favorite field piece, and his comrades had believed that such a memento of his artillery service would be very pleasing to him, and that in its small way it would constantly remind him of the unalterable esteem and regard of his old associates. His comrades would be gratified if they could know that he experienced as much pleasure in the reception of their gift as they felt in presenting it to him.

Col. Powel, who had not the slightest surmise of why he was sent for until the testimonial was set before him, replied in appropriate and feeling terms, and said that the thoughtfulness and kindness of his men in selecting the most valued memento which it was possible to have presented him, filled his heart with emotions which he could not express. He thanked his comrades and assured them that the little gun would constitute one of his most valued possessions and a constant reminder of his pleasant association with the company. He again returned the warmest expression of his thanks.

Dr. Thayer being called on for a few words said that he had taken a hearty interest in the testimonial and believed it had been most fittingly bestowed. He urged the company to maintain jealously the high moral and military standard that their late colonel had brought them to, and that the highest tribute of regard they could show Col. Powel, would be to resolve each and every one, that they would carefully exclude every element which would tend to lower their standard, or lessen the appreciation of the importance of remembering and being guided by the principles which he had inculcated and exemplified.

Col. Powel again addressed the men urging them to attend the drills and keep up the reputation of the company in respect to discipline and soldierly bearing. Two or three men who neglected their duty could nulify the work of all the other members, as to their appearance on parade.

The company was then dismissed and the men had an opportunity of examing the Lilliputian gun. The armory will be open each day until Wednesday from 10 o'clock to 1, in order that the public may visit and examine this marvellous production. No description can convey an idea of the perfection of detail, and the wonderful fidelity with which the artist has wrought his work. As a specimen of faithful and conscientious work, it will richly repay a visit and careful study.

PERSONALS.

......Nilsson is helping the Russians celebrate their victory at St. Petersburg.

......Joseph Cook says that the difference between a fool who has been through college and a fool who has not is that the latter knows he is a fool while the former does not

......Mr. Hewitt generously offers to erect a building for his American corn kitchen if space can be secured, and the New York Corn exchange has so much faith in the enterprise that it will advance all the other fund that may be necessary.

......Alexandre Dumas, the elder, had many orders and decorations, but cared so little for them that he used to nail them on the cabin door of his yacht. When he sold the yacht, he let the decorations go with it, either through sheer carelessness or one of those intentional accidents which eccentric genius affects.

......Of course, the Queen can do no wrong. Whatever she does now is attributed to her complete infatuation about Lord Beaconsfield. That she really desires to marry him is believed by many intelligent people, and such an event as a picturesque ending to Disraeli's life romance would not distress the country.—[London Letter.

......Among the bequests of the late George Bemis, of Newton, Mass., are $50,000 conditionally, for the establishment and maintenance of a professorship of international law in Harvard College; $20,000 for the purchase of books for the Boston Atheneum; $5000 for the purchase of a statue of President Quincy for Harvard College.

CONGRESSMEN AND SILVER DOLLARS

The awful statement has got out that when the silver bill becomes a law the Treasury department will dispose of a few tons of the white metal in the payment of the quarterly salaries of the members of Congress. To do this would require an aggregate of nearly thirty-seven thousand pounds of silver, and each member would receive about a hundred pounds. It would be a magnificent sight to see the great statesmen of America struggling under a hundred pound load of silver every three months, when it is not probable that one in ten of them could shoulder a ninety-six pound sack of flour. Mr. Bland, who is a small man in a good many ways, would look ridiculous enough trying to get away with such a load, and then when he had finally got it housed—if he ever did—it would be a sad thing for him to realize that his twelve hundred and fifty dollars really represented but about eleven hundred dollars of such money as is good in all parts of the world. Still we are persuaded that the Bland bill will revive at least some drooping industries. Many poor men at the capital will find employment with wheelbarrows and carts transporting the salaries of congressmen to suitable storerooms which will have to be erected for that purpose, and this in turn will afford work for honest mechanics. A thing of this kind is far-reaching in its beneficent effect.—[From Philadelphia Times.

AN UNPRECEDENTED SALE OF PICTURES.

The sale of the collection of American paintings in the Leavitt Art Rooms, at No. 817 Broadway, began this week. The principal prices obtained are as follows:

W. T. Richards's "Autumn Landscape," $525; Innes's "Autumn Near Hastings," $425; Brown's "Little Street Workers," $372; Brown's "Dull Times," $325; Wiggin's "Cattle," $305; McEntee's "Dark Days—Clouds Effects in the Catskills," $300; Eastman's Johnson's "School Children Kept in to Learn their Lessons," $230; Ream's "Fruit Piece," $215; Wyant's "Mountain Lake, Adirondacks," $190; M. F. H. De Haas's "Newport Light," $160; Tait's "Hunting Dogs," $150; A. Wordsworth Thompson's "Schoolhouse on the Hill," $160; Moran's "Sunset over New York," $145; Inness's "Twilight," $130; Schuchardt's "Spring Time," $130; Hart's "Cattle Piece, Storm Effect," $125; Dolph's "River Side," $125; Story's "Still Trusting," $115; Moore's "Bulgarian," $110; Quartley's "Waiting for the Tide," $110; Cropsey's "Mounts Adam and Eve," $105; Thom's "Children Playing," $100; Hall's "Landscape," $100.

The remaining pictures brought less than one hundred dollars apiece. In view of the quality of the works sold last night, and of the meagre sums received for them, it may be said that no sale of American paintings ever held in this country was less satisfactory to persons who enjoy buying things cheap. The sale is to be continued, and from present appearances, bargains will be unprecedented. Among the attractions is Innes's great work, "The Homestead," which hung in the south room, directly opposite the principal entrance, during the last academy exhibition.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE ANTECEDENTS OF DISEASE

Among the antecedents of disease are inertness in the circulation of the blood, an unnaturally attenuated condition of the physique, indicating that the life current is deficient in nutritive properties, a wan, haggard look, inability to digest the food, loss of appetite, sleep and strength, and a sensation of unnatural languor. All these may be regarded as among the indicia of approaching disease, which will eventually attack the system and overwhelm it, if it is not built up and fortified in advance. Invigorate, then, without loss of time, making choice of the greatest vitalizing agent extant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an elixir which has given health and vigor to myriads of the sick and debilitated, which is avouched by physicians and analysts to be pure as well as effective, which is immensely popular in this country, and extensively used abroad, and which has been for years past one of the leading medicinal staples of America.

"GERMAN SYRUP."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine was distributed free of charge by druggists in this country to those afflicted with consumption, asthma, croup, severe coughs, pneumonia and other diseases of the throat and lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that GERMAN SYRUP will cure them. The result has been that druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your druggist J. H. Taylor and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case.

Elinor's Lover.

"Is that you, Elinor?" The pale face was raised eagerly and turned toward the door, as though the bandaged eyes could see through their covering; and then, as the new comer came swiftly across the room, and sat down on a low seat beside the sofa, a dishevelled head settled back on the tumbled pillows with a sigh of relief and satisfaction, although she had been gone from the room only a few moments.

"Yes, it is I;" and the deft fingers straightened out the cushions and smoothed back the rough hair from his forehead, as they did so many weary times daily. "How are the poor eyes? - it is time to attend to them now;" and the same light, skillful hands adjusted the bandage quickly but tenderly. "The doctor says you are improving every hour; it is only patience that you need now, for a little time; and then —oh, Max, I am so thankful!" and the cheerful voice broke down suddenly, as Max Valens arm drew her close, and the bright face was hidden for a moment on his bosom.

"And I owe it all to you!" he whispered, holding her closer yet. "No other could have brought me through it as you have done; my darling!"

And Elinor Marcelon, as she rested her tired head there, felt that she was more than repaid for all the work, and worry, and unrest of the past week—all the weariness and misery of it—now that he was so nearly well again.

It was a narrow escape this of Max Valens —a long, hard struggle for life it had been; but, with Elinor to help and pray for him, he had conquered.

Fortunate it was for him that he had fallen into such hands for, although Paul Marcelon's household and housekeeping were of rather a "mixed" and Bohemian style, he was honestly fond of his friend, and when he saw the illness coming on, had taken him in and given him the best of everything, even to the only spare chamber, and his own sister for nurse.

"Don't send for any one." That was Max's cry from the first. "They will kill me if they come worrying. Promise that you won't let any one know unless you must;" and that promise being made, he gave himself up to delirium and fever, and Elinor Marcelon nursed him through it.

He had made love to her in a light careless way ever since he first began to drop into Paul's studio now and then; and she, being quite used to the style of thing from most of Paul's numerous acquaintances ever since her childhood, had accepted it as a matter of course until he was taken ill; then it came to her suddenly and clearly that he was the one man in all this world to her, and now she knew that she had saved him and was thankful.

"I've some news for you, Max," she said. "I know you long for something of the kind, shut up in this dreary room. We have a new arrival—a far away cousin of ours—who has taken a fancy to study art under Paul's guidance, and is to stay with us all winter."

"I hate new people," Max answered, savagely, "I hope he doesn't intend to monopolize you, Nellie?"

"'He?'" laughed Nellie. "'He' is a young lady, Max, and one of the loveliest ones I ever saw—Alice Barden. I am sure you will like her."

"I trust so," answered Max, dryly, "but on general principles, I hate new people."

Max grew rapidly better. But even after the bandage was taken from his eyes, and he was able to walk up and down the dimly-lighted room without assistance, Elinor was in constant requisition. Like most petted individuals, he grew very exacting, but Elinor was only too glad to feel that she was a help and a comfort to him. Once or twice the new cousin came to sit up with him and Elinor for awhile, but she declared the dimly-lighted room "poky" and the patient "cross," he never took the trouble to urge her to stay.

The first day that Max ventured down stairs he came suddenly upon the "new cousin" sitting in the sunshiny, untidy little sitting-room, with Mrs. Paul's baby in her arms.

He had seen many beautiful women, but this woman, with her fair face, her great dark eyes, and her wonderful crown of glittering golden hair, was even to him a surprise and a wonder.

The bright sunlight fell on her bowed head, and on the pure, sweet, almost unreal face, and she looked up and smiled.

* * * * * * *

That night Elinor, watching Alice as she brushed out the glittering waves of her hair before the looking-glass in their chamber, felt a new, sudden pang of—was it?—jealousy in her heart.

"A fine fellow, that Max Valens," said Alice, as though following out a train of thought. "Odd for him to come here to be ill. He is his uncle's favorite nephew, and will have a mint of money some time. You didn't know it? You are the oddest people, you and Paul, that I ever saw. I haven't been here two weeks yet, and I know more about all your friends than you do. However, it's so;" and the white elbows were placed on the shabby bureau, the dimpled chin resting on the pink palms, and the owner of the perfect face gazed at it long and earnestly in the mirror.

Those next days were very dreary ones to Elinor. Her royal heart refused to believe at first that Max could be untrue to her even in thought; but daily Alice's fascinations were exerted, until at last even Paul noticed it and spoke of it in his rough way.

"The girl shall go," he said; "she shall not ruin your life in this way. Nellie, Max does not really care for her, but she monopolizes him; and, if it comes to that, he is yours in honor bound."

But Elinor pleaded with him.

"I care for him," she said, "more than for all the world—so much, that my happiness is nothing if he be not content. Would you have your sister marry a man who cares for another woman, Paul? Let him choose between us, if it comes to that."

And so Paul was silenced; but one day, Max returning from a walk with Alice, called "Nellie" in vain, and Mrs Paul handed him a little missive directed to him in Elinor's clear hand.

"DEAR MAX (the note said), I am going away for a time. Don't come to me, don't write for me, until you are sure of your own heart. Remember that you can do me no more cruel injury than to marry me when you love another. Let no false idea of honor influence you. You know me thoroughly. Learn to love her and if you love her Heaven bless you both. Think of this well for a month and then do as your heart tells you. "ELINOR."

Slowly the days went by, dragging wretchedly along to Elinor—slowly, all too slowly, to Max Valens, although he was Alice Barden's constant companion all the while. He missed Elinor's bright smile, her ready, helpful hands; he missed the long, quiet evening talks; in fact—and every day made him sure of it—he missed Elinor.

At last, one morning, as Paul Marcelon was working industriously (for a wonder) in his studio, he was interrupted by the advent of Max Valens, pale but very determined.

"What is it?" said Paul, looking back over his shoulder, with brush uplifted; and then Max broke out savagely, "I can stand this kind of think no longer, Marcelon. Tell me where Nellie is. I must go and bring her back. She told me to do as my heart told me, and my heart tells me that she is the only woman in the world whom I can love."

The uplifted brush fell to the floor, and Paul Marcelon's hand grasped Max Valens' heartily.

"I was sure of it" he said enthusiastically. "I knew it would come out all right; and before another day had passed Elinor knew that all distrust was at an end, and that her lover was hers.

A Prussian general not long ago twitted Princess Metternich on her admiration of French wit and ingenuity, declaring that he failed to find those traits so strong as they had been represented. "Give what you will to French people," answered the princess, "and I wager they will make of it something pretty, elegant and witty." "Well, Princess," said the general, with scornful complacency, "here is a white hair I find on my uniform. I give it to you carte blanche; send it to Paris." The lady accepted the challenge and sent the hair straightway to a Paris jeweller, telling him it was to be made into a gift for a Prussian. A week afterward she received a casket which she presented to the general, saying ironically: "Pray to God that your hair may not break." It contained a massive gold necklace, with a medallion on which were enamelled the arms of Prussia: to the medallion were suspended by the white hair two smaller lockets in black enamel on which were inscribed, in tricolor letters formed of rubies, sapphires and diamonds, these words: "Lorraine-Alsace."

ONE WAY TO COLLECT A BILL.—How an ice dealer collected a bill is told by the Springfield Union: "A dry goods dealer, who has lately tried to beat his creditors by a pretended failure and offer of ten cents on the dollar, encountered an ice dealer the other day, who, all the summer, had daily washed his supply and carried it up stairs for him. The ice man presented his bill of $10 for the season, and the merchant coolly stated that he was paying ten cents on the dollar now. The ice man was maddened at the reply, having in his mind the extra trouble he had taken, and he told the merchant to pay the bill in full or take a thrashing then and there, as he had come with just that purpose, and would pay his fine agreeably for the satisfaction. The merchant hauled out a well-filled wallet and paid the full amount."

Miscellaneous.

IMPORTANT LETTER

From a Distinguished Physician.

NO single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won my hearty approval. I believe it likely to succeed when all the usual remedies fail, because it strikes at the root of the disease, viz., the acidified blood, while it heals the ulcerated membrane by direct application to the nasal passages. Its action is based on certain fixed rules, and unless the vital forces are too far exhausted, must, in the great majority of cases, effect a cure.

GEO. BEARD, M. D.
NOBSCOTT BLOCK, SO. FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 1, 1876.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

MAY safely claim to be one of the few popular remedies receiving the approval of medical gentlemen, who, in private, not only freely recommend it but use it in their families in preference to any of the preparations usually prescribed by physicians.

"You are aware," said a distinguished city physician, "that my obligations to the Mass. Medical Society are such that I cannot publicly recommend or prescribe the Radical Cure; but since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

GENTLEMEN,—We have sold SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for nearly one year, and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have to learn the first complaint yet.

We are not in the habit of recommending patent medicines, but your preparation meets the wants of thousands, and we think those afflicted should be convinced of its great merits; that their suffering will be relieved. We have been in the drug business for the past twelve years constantly, and sold everything for Catarrh, but yours leads all the rest. If you see proper you can use this letter or any part of it that you wish.

Very truly yours, B. D. BALDWIN & CO.
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Drugs, Books and Stationery, Washington, Ind., Feb. 23, 1876.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

An Electro-Galvanic Battery combined with a highly Medicated Strengthening Plaster, forming the best Plaster for pains and aches in the World of Medicine.

ELECTRICITY

As a grand curative and restorative agent is not equalled by any element or medicine in the history of the healing art. Unless the vital spark has fled the body, restoration by means of electricity is possible. It is the last resort of all physicians and surgeons, and has rescued thousands, apparently dead, from an untimely grave, when no other human agency could have succeeded. This is the leading curative element in this Plaster.

BALSAM AND PINE.

The healing properties of our own fragrant balsam and pine and the gums of the East are too well known to require description. Their grateful, healing, soothing, and strengthening properties are known to thousands. When combined in accordance with late and important discoveries in pharmacy, their healing and strengthening properties are increased tenfold. In this respect our Plaster is the best in use without the aid of electricity.

TWO IN ONE.

Thus combined we have two grand medical agents in one, each of which performs its function and unitedly produce more cures than any liniment, lotion, wash, or plaster ever before compounded in the history of medicine. Try one. PRICE, 25 CENTS.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

BOVININE
BEEF JUICE,

For purposes of nourishment "Bovinine" is fast taking the place of "Beef Extracts," being far better suited to the most delicate patients. Convalescents and those suffering from debility or low state of the system derive great benefit from its use. In cases of Poverty of Blood, accompanied by General Debility, this invigorating preparation is peculiarly adapted. Physicians, after several months' trial, pronounce it one of the best articles of nourishment they have ever seen; it containing the chief essentials, in a form palatable and easily absorbed without taxing the digestive organs, and also being entirely free from any drug, they have no hesitation in recommending its use.
